

Application Development & Migration Services

The AB&R® professional services team can help you manage the conversion of your existing legacy business applications or potential end-of-life operating system solutions which you rely on in your business every day, while assisting you in future-proofing your investment.

We are able to help make your change management efficient and predictable with our fixed scope application migration services. This service will move a legacy OS platform, such as Microsoft CE, or WN 6.x to your next generation Android or Microsoft Internet of Things (IoT) based devices.

Our process includes gathering your requirements, designing the software architecture, developing the application against your current requirements, implementing the solution into your networks, and performing extended warranty/defect repair and application support.
